

Redbank Appoints Highly Experienced Copper Executive Bruce Hooper

Redbank continues to strengthen its technical team and management to lead next phase of exploration and project development

Redbank Copper Limited (ASX: RCP) ('Redbank' or 'the Company') is pleased to advise that it has appointed highly experienced resources industry executive Bruce Hooper as a Non-Executive Director effective from 1 December 2020.

Mr Hooper is a registered professional geoscientist with extensive resources industry experience spanning the base metal, precious metal and energy sectors in Australia, Asia, the Americas and Africa.

Most recently, Mr Hooper was the Chief Exploration & Business Development Officer at Sandfire Resources Ltd (ASX: SFR). During this period he was seconded to be Chief Executive Officer of Tintina Resources based in Montana, USA. Prior to 2012, Bruce worked in several senior exploration, operational and business development roles for a variety of companies including British Petroleum ('BP'), Rio Tinto Limited, North Limited, Straits Resources Limited, Perilya Ltd, Ivernia Inc. along with both private and public board roles.

Commenting on the appointment, Redbank's Executive Chairman Mike Hannington said, "We are delighted to announce the appointment of Bruce Hooper, the addition of his skills to the Board marks another important milestone in Redbank's development. Bruce brings to the table a wealth of industry experience and contacts, having held senior positions with several global mining houses across both the public and private sectors.

"Bruce's role with Redbank follows nine years as Chief Exploration & Business Development Officer for Sandfire Resources, so his industry insight and strategic input towards our recently expanded exploration plans for the Redbank Copper project will be invaluable."

Bruce Hooper commented, "I am excited to be joining the Redbank Board as the company has excellent projects and exciting exploration potential. Management has done a great job to revamp the Company's assets and solidify its corporate position, ready for growth. Redbank has already established a very high-calibre technical team and the volume of work completed over recent months has been tremendous. I look forward to now being part of this team and a great future for Redbank, as we work towards growing the Company's copper resources."
